FOUR SEASONS BORA BORA

If you look up "paradise" in the dictionary, you'll probably see a photo of one of these South Pacific paradises. Both are tranquil archipelagos with blue lagoons and reputations for attracting privacy-seeking celebrities (Nicole Kidman and Keith Urban honeymooned at the St. Regis Bora Bora in French Polynesia; Bill Gates and his wife spent their honeymoon at the Wakaya Club in Fiji). But that's where the similarities end.

French Polynesia, a string of French-influenced isles that are home to legendary honeymoon hot spots like Tahiti and Bora Bora, is the birthplace of the overwater bungalow. Otherworldly Fiji is best known for the friendliness of its people, a thriving Melanesian culture, and a string of secluded private-island resorts. Go to either place and you will find your flight will be packed with newlyweds just like you. Ready to find your fantasy island? Check out this list of the best resorts in Fiji and French Polynesia and get ready to fall in love all over again.

Best Cuisine: Kokomo Private Island, Fiji

BUY ON TRIPADVISOR.COM

Luxury meets sustainability at one of Fiji's finest properties, a remote private island adjacent to the massive and pristine Great Astrolabe Reef. The couple dozen villas are an idyllic mix of indigenous design elements with a modern sensibility and cutting-edge technology—spacious, airy and embracing the outdoors through personal infinity pools backdropped by the long palm-trimmed sandy beach.

A connection to nature is at the heart of all activities. The resident marine biologist takes couples for snorkeling trips and to plant coral bits in their garden, and they also can go out fishing to experience the pioneering Dock to Dish, a community-supported fishery program comprising all-female small-scale fishers.

Dine on whatever you catch and forage at the art-studded prix fixe restaurant or casually romantic street-food-inspired eatery down by the beach. To work off the sumptuous food, hike through the virgin jungle and jump in a waterfall, or simply give in to the pampering with a hot seashell massage.
