Blue to Beat the Winter Blues

by Monika Markovinovic

Where the sky meets the sea, you'll find the color blue. Imaginative and calm, blue transports us to places full of wonder. That's why here in the Northern Hemisphere, we're letting our imagination run wild, calling on the brightest, warmest blues that inspire our travels—cerulean ocean scenes, sapphire seawater pools, shimmering lagoons—to transport us away from our winter woes, if even just for a moment or two.

Kokomo Private Island Fiji | Yaukuve Levu Island, Fiji

Experience the big blue at Kokomo Private Island Fiji, home to the planet's fourth-largest reef. You may not be able to experience the resort's seaplane right now, but you can still imagine yourself swooping into the property, blue all around you. Here, plunge into the blue with serene waterfall hikes, fishing expeditions and swims alongside sharks and manta rays. For those looking to go deeper, take part in coral reef restoration with Kokomo's on-site marine biologist.
