The dream of those confined all over the world could be summed up in one sentence: find a little freedom (and human warmth) without taking any risk ... And savor it under the sun exactly. This is precisely what Kokomo offers in Fiji. This ultra-luxury resort has obtained authorization to accommodate groups of 12 people who, once on its 57 hectares of land, will have the private island only for them for a minimum of 12 nights. The price of this exclusive offer? $ 36,000 per night. A solution of choice - available from April 1, 2021 - for the wealthy who would like to extend their "social bubble" and take it easy in the middle of the Pacific.

Specifically, travelers will need to get to Nadi International Airport by private jet or via Fiji Airways, before taking a 45-minute flight to Kokomo Island. On site, they will be able to set up their homes in the villas or sumptuous residences, and will live happy days thanks to an impeccable service, including a wide range of catering through the three restaurants on the island - which will be reserved for the twelve travelers, Of course.

To make life easier, guests can count on a personal concierge, who will take care of fine-tuning all the details of their daily life and organizing the various activities offered by the places (scuba diving, paddleboarding, kayaking, etc.) . The staff of the Yaukuve Spa Sanctuary will take care of their guests in search of well-being with an on-demand offer, including one massage per day and per person in the package. A parenthesis a thousand miles from our confined daily life, reserved for an elite that we can only envy.
