Nowhere else in the world does barefoot luxury quite like Fiji.

With extraordinary private residences nestled amongst Fiji's 333 tropical islands to provide Aussies with the most intimate South Pacific escape, Fiji has re-defined what a luxury holiday is all about. From creating custom holistic experiences to heal the heart, soul and mind to providing absolute beachfront privacy and championing world-class sustainable initiatives, Fiji's private luxury escapes truly are unparalleled.

But most of all, each of these escapes provide an additional layer of warmth to this island nation's year-round sunshine, where the local staff's 'Bula Spirit' instils confidence in the human spirit and will make you feel as if you are visiting your home away from home, allowing as much privacy as you want.

Astrolabe Luxury Residence at Kokomo Private Island

Plucked in the middle of Kokomo is the Astrolabe Luxury Residence, which boasts 360-degree views of natural paradise. The Astrolabe is part of Kokomo's collection of five luxury residences, which each come with their own open-plan living space, a butler, outdoor dining area and large infinity pool. Artwork by renowned artist Chris Kenyon can be found right throughout every residence, each space unified by his ever-changing interplay between air, light and the sea. It is here where you can adopt a Manta-ray, team up with resident marine biologists to help with their coral restoration projects, dine on exquisite dock to dish/farm to fork meals and engage with their wellness practitioner to create your own holistic holiday. It is also at Kokomo where simplicity, luxury and exclusivity are first nature.
