Located in the South Pacific, Fiji consists of 333 beautiful isles formed after the volcanic eruption. There are plenty of things to do and the nice scenery leaves a deep impression on the travelers.

Fiji, a wonderland where you can forget about the passing time, boasts the enchanting beaches, clear waters, warm weather, favorable scenery, world-level diving activities, high-end accommodation, diverse cuisines and colorful nightlife. No traveler could say no to the utmost beauty, tranquility, purity and uniqueness here.

No matter whether you have come here for the first time or not, the 333 captivating islets will definitely bring you unforgettable experiences. You can get on the cruise, dive in the water, trek along the road, fish by the sea or just relax yourself and watch the nice surroundings. This is Fiji.

Notably, ever since the world was hit by the epidemic, Fiji has always prioritized the health and safety of locals and tourists. The country has immediately launched reaction mechanisms and implemented a series of measures for pandemic prevention and quarantine measures in line with international standards, thus curbing the local spread as fast as it could. As of June 2020, the pandemic has already been brought under control within Fiji.

Fiji is a high-end island destination attracting numerous Chinese tourists, but its international border with China is yet to be opened up. The good news is that the island country will be once again accessible as the globe gradually feels easier about dealing with the epidemic. Fiji has now introduced Care Fiji Commitment, a program dedicated to ensure the utmost safety of travelers to Fiji. After the international border is reopened, Fiji will be built into a tourist destination featuring safe travel.

Fiji is definitely the top choice for travelers after the pandemic! Let's take a look at what is worth expecting there!

1. Private islands with nice scenery—a luxury choice for going on vacation

As the pandemic is brought under control, a growing number of people are more eager to embrace sunshine, the sea and beaches. Fiji is composed of 333 islands, and a number of them are for private use. You can enjoy the utmost privacy and tranquility on the private islands, stay away from the disturbances and have the nicest day with your beloved ones. These isles are definitely the ideal choice for your wonderful vacation. Moreover, the numerous five-star resorts here provide you with the best entertainment activities. You can swim in the farther waters, play by the beach, enjoy your time in private swimming pools or get on a jet or seaplane which greatly facilitates moving among destinations. Local hotels working with Care Fiji Commitment have their own Wellness Ambassadors who will provide consultation and assistance for the tourists, and answer the questions on pandemic prevention and control within Fiji. All the Wellness Ambassadors have received comprehensive knowledge training on pandemic prevention and control, and they are devoted to helping with relevant work and curbing the local spread.

Fiji has a great variety of luxury holiday villages. Vomo Island Resort is one such village on Mamanuca Islands. It is located on two private islands with incomparable aboriginal beauty and suits couples and big families particularly. You can hold the tasty cocktail in your hand while watching the splendid scenery of the South Pacific, starting your best ever vacation in life.

Kokomo Private Island Fiji is a high-end holiday village with great fame in Fiji. The moment you arrive at the Nadi International Airport, the private airplane of the village is already waiting for you. It only takes 45 minutes to reach the beautiful destination by air. Then you can choose from the 21 seaside villas, have the fresh fruits and vegetables picked from the resort's farmland or visit the vanilla plantation.

Six Senses Fiji is situated on Malolo Island, the biggest one of Mamanuca Islands. It is recognized as an ideal destination for vacationers throughout the year with the blue sky, clear waters, lush virgin forests around and the enchanting white sandy beaches. The private beaches here extend for 650 meters, and you can get to the beach directly from the seaside villa, feasting your eyes on the fantastic scenery of the seaside and wharfs.

In addition, you can always find your favorite one among the great number of international five-star hotels and holiday villages here, including Hilton, Marriot, Radisson Blu, Sofitel, Intercontinental and Shangri-La.

2. Plentiful family activities

In Fiji, children could take an active part in all the activities to explore the local culture. The participation helps them develop good life principles and respect for traditional culture from an early age. Right here, the immersive experiences enable the kids to get closer to nature and Fiji's traditional culture. Thus, they will learn more about the country's traditional customs and unique culture.

A great many open spaces in Fiji are in line with the requirements of Care Fiji Commitment. The program is an ongoing commitment to maintaining protection measures against COVID-19 in Fiji according to the standards of the World Health Organization (WHO). This includes local testing available at the Fiji Centre for Disease Control, WHO-accredited isolation facilities, clear procedures in place for suspected cases, dedicated drop-in fever clinics for concerned visitors showing symptoms and a dedicated COVID-19 hotline. Such measures ensure that parents can have fun with their children in Fiji free of worries.

Bula Club of Jean-Michel Cousteau Resort is a paradise for children and it has been awarded many times. The club encourages kids to explore nature by themselves and holds colorful education activities. As time goes by, the kids will be able to broaden their horizon and learn about themselves and the surroundings.

Treasure Island Resort is always committed to protecting the hawksbill turtles, and it is among the first holiday villages on Mamanuca Islands to employ professional environmentalists. The children's club here holds plenty of activities intended to protect marine life and encourages kids to learn about and safeguard the treasurable beings in the sea.

3. Exciting adventures

Fiji is surely a paradise for adventurers. You can go canoeing or drift on the sea. Explorers of all ages could find the activity that suits them most. Interestingly, Fiji is the only place in the world offering riding experiences on electric double-track bikes. The sport is safe enough for all to have a try. You can have a walk through the bushes and watch the scenery of the local villages and beaches. This is the best way for you to explore the beauty of the unpolluted Coral Coast from not afar. Right here, you are free from external disturbance and can enjoy every moment of getting closer to nature.

New learners or masters of surfing will both enjoy the great time of riding the waves in Fiji. The former could go to Natadola Beach of the Coral Coast while the latter who are ready to rise to challenges could visit Cloudbreak of Mamanuca Islands where the tides are the most well-known and challenging throughout the South Pacific.

Fiji is always praised as the World's Capital of Soft Coral and it is also home to the Great Astrolabe Reef. For diving addicts, it is just like a massive treasure box. Fiji boasts about 1000 fish species and hundreds of varieties of coral reefs. The coral reefs here expand for over 4000 square miles and the divers can get closer to diverse life forms living in the sea. In some cases, they can even swim underwater together with the manta rays and hawksbill turtles.

4. Local culture and Fiji's Bula spirit

In Fiji, Bula not only is a greeting but also symbolizes the best wishes for health and happiness. Right here, you will always hear others greet you saying Bula. Such greetings will develop a closer bond among each other and contribute to the growth of communities, thus making everyday life much happier. This is the core of the local lifestyle.

All of Fiji's hotels offer the customers the chance to visit the local communities and you could also support the communities via learning and earning. Such tourism activities will let the travelers learn about the community life and the participation makes the traveling experience much more immersive. You might also sign up and go drifting on a speedboat in Sigatoka. Waiting for you is an exciting half-day exploration into the ecological beauty and local culture. You will surf on the splendid Sigatoka River, look around Fiji's villages and know about the daily life of the local villagers.

5. Utmost safety assurance

Travelers will be strongly encouraged to download careFIJI, a privacy-preserving, Bluetooth-based mobile app which utilizes non-location tracking technology and gives visitors an added layer of security. The app will quickly and seamlessly identify any contact with a COVID-19 case.

Care Fiji Commitment is a two-way pledge. After the international border is reopened, both the local tourism companies and the tourists will have to make the commitment. After entering Fiji, you must comply with the local regulations on pandemic prevention and control. If you feel unwell or show any symptoms suggesting the infection, you should immediately cancel your travel. Moreover, all are encouraged to keep wearing facial masks in public, wash hands often, pay attention to disinfection and practice social distancing.

Tourism Fiji's acting CEO Robert Thompson said, "Fiji is always known for its attractive white sandy beaches and expansive rainforests. It has a wide variety of islands to choose from and offers mostly boutique resorts to meet the various requirements of vacationers. Care Fiji Commitment is our assurance to travelers that the health and safety of everyone who lives and travels here remains our number one priority. Now, with this added layer of confidence in place, Fiji is primed to be an ideal post-pandemic destination—one that is and has remained COVID-19 safe, and allows natural social distancing in public."

Tourism Fiji's Regional Manager and Chief Representative of Greater China Vincent Zheng stated: "Hopefully, Chinese tourists will choose Fiji as their first destination on vacation. Travel safety concerns travelers most now and ensuring their safety is our priority. We will, through Care Fiji Commitment, boost the travelers' confidence when they select Fiji as the next destination on vacation. Meanwhile, we hope that Chinese tourists will also contribute to the pandemic prevention and control in Fiji."
